

“We help to create environments which bring health to all people.”
The Kawai Group had supported your health throughout the ages.

-There can be no education without health-

The quote listed above reflects the belief in health education held by Kametaro Kawai, founder of our group and a doctor of pharmacology. Even today, this belief is carefully passed on to each one of our employees as the philosophy for corporate activities.

Since we began manufacturing Kanyu Drop in 1911, the Kawai Group has worked to create environments which offer a healthy lifestyle to all people, from children to the elderly.

A great number of customers use products and services, and we have offered our products for over a century since we started selling.

Our company's business consists of pharmaceutical products and health products, with a focus on KAWAI Kanyu Drop. Our products are regularly used by a great number of customers both in Japan and overseas.

This popularity is proof of the high appraisal and trust for the jelly-based products which have been developed by our company. In the future, we shall continue to utilize our jelly-based technology in order to develop products which bring satisfaction to even more customers.

Furthermore, our company has also undertaken the new business of cleaning school grounds and managing sandboxes, etc. at kindergartens and nursery schools. Every year brings an increase in the number of educational institutions which use services focusing on the environmental and hygiene of children. In the future, our company shall further enhance the education of employees as specialized cleaning staff for educational facilities, and shall continue to make dedicated efforts towards an even higher level of service that brings satisfaction to customers.

Regardless of how much the times change, there is no change in people's desire for good health. During the next 100 years, our company will increase our benefit to society by focusing on every grain of our products and every aspect of our cleaning services, as well as by reforming our manufacturing environment, developing new products and services, and enhancing employee education.

Our company will not become complacent with our past performance. We are prepared to work even harder in order to contribute to the good health of people, and we look forward to serving you in the future.
